

The American Academy of Workers' Compensation Physicians
Adjusts Membership Fees Due to COVID Impact
(www.wcdoctors.com)

In response to the economic slowdown as a result of COVID, the American Academy of Workers' Compensation Physicians (AAWCP: www.wcdoctors.com) announces that the annual membership dues rate for Physicians is now only $50 a year. Further, membership is free to assist those Physicians just starting out who have successfully graduated from a Residency or Fellowship program in the last 12 months ($50 a year thereafter). And, as always, membership in the Academy is free to all others in the Workers' Compensation community, including Case Managers, Adjusters, Managed Care Companies, Insurers, TPAs, Attorneys and more.

As background, the American Academy of Workers' Compensation Physicians (AAWCP) was created to train Physicians in the nuances of Workers' Compensation so that they can better understand the process and protocols...including the need for timely appointments, thorough paperwork and understanding return-to-work guidelines, etc... The AAWCP is a platform for dialogue and communication between professionals in Workers' Compensation and is working across the industry to develop "best practices" in order to help control some of the inefficiencies and/or to improve the process. The Academy has developed coursework for Physicians in Workers' Compensation on the way to offering a Certification, or similar, for Physicians to be trained & certified in the Workers' Compensation field.
